How do you make jam sandwich?

By Devin Oglethorpe

Have you ever struggled to make a jam sandwich? Or do your children always beg for a jam sandwich when you are tired? This very cool and helpful machine can make you a jam sandwich in approximately 2-3 minutes in such simple steps! This prevents you from having to wait a long time scraping all the butter and jam. This causes your arm to ache. Instead, this machine can do it all for you! All you have to do is sit back and relax, maybe watch some television in the meantime and then your jam sandwich will be ready in a short amount of time!

Firstly, the stiff wheel (which has a small, round ball on top) has to be spun by the person controlling the machine, and in a blink of an eye, the ball rolls down onto the ground. Just after, the ball rolls onto some dominoes. After the ball finishes rolling on the dominoes, the ball lands on a pair of scissors (any type, including left or right handed) which is attached to a long string. The string then gets is then snipped by the pair of scissors, which causes a piece of bread (that is attached to the string) plummet steadily onto a conveyor belt.

A different ball, which is as round as the moon, falls onto a smooth conveyor belt, falls just in front of the round ball. Both of the pieces of equipment moves swiftly across the conveyor belt. After they are both at the end, the ball lands onto another pair of scissors. The slice of bread lands onto the ground, until the scissors open up and firmly pushes the single slice of bread onto another conveyor belt, in the mean time, the scissors snip a thick, rough string.

The long string is cut by the sensors, because of this, it causes the string to collapse onto the ground. A box of jam and butter is on the top of the string. The jam tips onto the slice of bread, right after that, the butter drops onto the bread, as a result, the jam sandwich is ready.

The slice of bread, which is on the conveyor belt, moves along calmly, and by the end of the conveyor belt, there is a sensor. The bread drops onto the sensor. This causes the high sensor to activate another slice of bread which lays on the top. This The other slice of bread drops onto the bread full of jam and butter, which creates a jam sandwich!

In conclusion, many people would consider this as a very useful way of making jam sandwich. Although this might look confusing and difficult, you do not have to wait a very long time scraping the butter and jam, instead this device can do it all for you! Now you can have all the rest you want!
